

TEXO RAPIER REBUILD

In our ongoing effort to make life easier for our customers and to increase the productivity in TEXO looms around the world, we have once again made a quantum leap in production speed, and fabric uniformity in the products woven in your TEXO looms. This time we have concentrated all our resources to make improvements to existing machines, and the final product is a combination of well established technology from our high speed looms, now put to use in the stable frame work of TEXO looms of any vintage.

The equipment we suggest that you combine to achieve your TEXO looms maximum production speed potential; which in most case will be up to twice the speed that the loom originally was designed for are the following:

- ➔ TEXO Servo motor driven, middle transfer band rapier, including our famous Pozi-Grip weft presentation system and TEXO Weft Tension System TWTS which gives you a weft insertion system that increases productivity and eliminates any weft tension variation that could have a negative effect on your quality.
- ➔ TEXO Direct Individual Servo Controlled dobby type DISCO™ with its unique design where each harness frame is individually controlled by separate Servo motors, providing you with the freedom of limitless stacking control.

This equipment is of course also available as individual loom upgrades for your TEXO forming or dryer loom. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact our sales department for more detailed information, and individual solutions for your particular TEXO loom.
